Executives Hear Management Plan

Four question concerning business management were presented Friday by an expert in management to 175 area business executives attending the second in a series of management seminars sponsored by the First Michigan Bank and Trust Co. The seminar was held at Point West.

Roblee B. Martin, president and chief executive officer of The President's Association, addressed the group on the subject "The Professional Manager Looks at Management."

Questions posed by Martin were to what degree do you practice consultative management versus autocratic management, to what degree are you an active manager versus inactive, to what degree do you decentralize decision making and to what degree do you concentrate on development of people.

Martin explained that persons will support the common goal with a consultative management and will make mistakes in decision making but the trick is to push decision making down to the lowest level.

He added that management must emphasize team commitment to common objectives and that the future of any company depends on the quality and quantity of its people. "A good leader has the confidence of his people," Martin said. "A great leader has confidence in his people."

The American Management Association seeks to serve the needs of chief executive officers by assisting them in the development of a professional management concept within their own organization.

Martin was corporate vice president and general manager of Fruehauf Buildings and prior to that was chief executive officer of Dundee Cement Corp.

Martin was introduced by Robert Den Herder, president and chairman of the board of First Michigan Bank. Special guests were Sen. Gary Byker and Rep. James Farnsworth and Jim Carter of the Chicago offices of American Management Association.

SAVING OUR DOWNTOWN

The spring clean - up program is beginning in Holland and there is work for everyone who would like to spend a little time out-of-doors.

Our downtown is also striving to preserve some of the older buildings by repairing and beautification programs in progress, we feel something should be done to reroute the truck traffic so that we will not be faced with the continued movement of trucks up and down our main streets.

Other cities have truck routes and we think that it is way past the time when we need to talk to our city planners and city officials relative to doing something constructive about the problem.

We receive many complaints all the time from people, not only about the truck traffic, but also that they do not think much about the change that has been made in the parking meters.

If we are to save our downtown, then we need to have some fast action on these programs. Why not talk to your elected, hired and appointed city people. The time is now.

Council approved a contract with the Michigan Municipal League to prepare personnel classification and compensation analysis. Completion is scheduled for March, 1974.

Council directed the city superintendent to determine repair needs to the tennis courts at the Lawrence Ave., park and to study the present policy of reserving the park rather than allowing it to be used on a first come, first serve basis.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, April 8
Christ Suffered For Us
Isaiah 53:4-9; 1 Peter 2:24-25
By C. P. Dame

It is always good to fix the mind upon the suffering of Christ but it is particularly fitting to do so during Lent. This lesson teaches the old truth, which some still deny, that Jesus Christ died vicariously, in man's sin. The Servant is Jesus thus made salvation possible.

I. Christ died because of man's sin. This truth is taught specifically in the two passages which compose the lesson. One passage is from Isaiah, the other from Paul, both inspired writers. The passage from Isaiah was written 700 years before Christ was born. Some of the prophecies in the Old Testament have been fulfilled, some will be fulfilled in the future. Isaiah foretold the suffering of Christ in a way that makes us marvel and make us agree with the words of a scholar, "as if it might have been written beneath the cross of Golgotha."

The words "our griefs," "our sorrows," "our transgressions," "our iniquities" teach that we are responsible for Christ's death and his death was vicarious. In nine verses it is said 12 times that the sufferings of the Servant of whom the prophet wrote were caused by man's sin. The Servant is Jesus Christ. His sufferings were both physical and spiritual.

II. Christ suffered willingly. He knew that it was His Father's will and He had come to do His will. Isaiah foretold that Christ would be oppressed and afflicted, that He would not open His mouth but take the suffering and abuse peacefully and this He did, for it says "But Jesus held His peace" (Matthew 26:63). He was led as a lamb to the slaughter. John the Baptist called Jesus "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). Isaiah's words about Christ were fulfilled in detail — recall the words, "with the rich in His death" and then Joseph's tomb.

III. Christ's death has brought life to millions. Peter pointed to Jesus as our Saviour and our Example; sometimes we forget the latter. Christ suffered patiently — we should do likewise. By His death, Christ restored us to life which is a great blessing for it links us to Him. Seeing that we have real life and are dead to sin, we ought to live in thankfulness to righteousness. Although we live in a crooked world we are called upon to live in righteousness and thus show that we belong to the Shepherd and Guardian of souls.

Smooth Operation Nets $12,000

Salesman's Auto, 800 Rings Taken

Quick acting thieves stole a 1973 model car from a jewelry salesman Monday afternoon while he was in a restaurant, opened the trunk and made off with an estimated $12,000 worth of sterling silver rings all within about a half hour, police said today.

Officers said the salesman, George Yanow, 50, of Des Plaines, Ill., had stopped for lunch at the Wooden Shoe restaurant along US-31 and in less than a half hour reported his 1973 model green Olds 98 two-door missing from the parking lot.

Police found the car parked about 50 feet off East 16th St. in the graded area of the I-196 construction site, its trunk forced open and the display case containing 800 rings missing.

Officers said the car was located by police at 4:05 p.m., about one hour and 15 minutes after the car was reported missing at 2:50 p.m.

Police said persons in the area where the car was found reported seeing the parked auto as early as 3 p.m.

Officers said the trunk of the car had been "punched" open in what deputy chief Gene Geib said was a "real smooth operation."

G.J. Kiekintveld Dies at Age 80

Gerrit J. Kiekintveld, 80, of 186 East Ninth St., died in Holland Hospital late Wednesday following a short illness. He became ill while visiting in Florida.

Born in Holland, he worked as a self-employed painter. He was a member of Ninth Street Christian Reformed Church.

Surviving are his wife, Margery; four sons, James, Donald, Gordon and Ray (Tony); a daughter, Mrs. Earl (Gladys) Jekel, all of Holland; a stepson, James Topp of Terre Haute, Ind.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Marvin (Faye) Staal of Wyoming and Mrs. Lawrence (Wilma) Veldheer of Zeeland; 31 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Herman Kiekintveld of Holland and several nieces and nephews.

Geib said there was evidence that another car had been at the East 16th St. site, indicating more than one person may have been involved in the theft.

Officers said Yanow had been traveling alone and had arrived in Holland enroute from Chicago to Grand Rapids. He had no sales accounts in Holland, police said.

Geib added it was possible Yanow had been followed from the Chicago area.

The State Police crime laboratory has been called into the investigation.

Police were asking citizens who recall seeing the 1973 model car at the restaurant parking lot or in the 16th area or who remember anything unusual concerning the car to contact them at the police department.

Street Recall Poses High Loss in Aid

City Manager William L. Bopf today clarified costs of Holland's one-way street system and potential benefits which could accrue to the city over a period of years.

Costs to the city in instituting the program in the fall of 1971 totaled approximately $60,000 covering redesign of intersections, new signs, signals and lane markings. The State Highway Department contributed another $20,000 covering half the cost of new traffic signals. The city's share came from local funds, mainly revenues from the Motor Vehicle Highway funds.

Bopf said he would submit a full report to City Council on all costs, present and potential, after signatures on initiatory petitions seeking recall of one-way streets in Holland are certified. He said there is a possibility of seeking an opinion of the state attorney general.

Should the one-way system be abandoned, Bopf said the city may lose from $1 to $2 million in benefits over the next 15 years. He pointed out that the State Highway Department has advocated one-way streets in Holland for over 10 years, and long-range plans include designing transitional lanes for the one-way system in the vicinity of Russ' east of the city. Future plans of the state also include rebuilding of Seventh and Ninth Sts. as well as connecting links.

Century Club Closes 75 Years at Dinner

Century Club closed its 75th year with a gala banquet at Point West Monday evening attended by 66 members and guests.

The speaker, Dr. David Weisblat, was introduced as an Ohio State University friend of president-elect of Century Club, Dr. William Arendshorst. Dr. Weisblat is vice president in charge of Pharmaceutical Research and Development of the Upjohn Company. He used as his topic, "Hopes for the Future in Pharmaceutical Research."

He prophesied that many new therapies may be available soon and others, now being studied, may not be of practical use for decades. He observed that some writers consider we are now in the golden age of drug development and that some younger doctors may never have seen a case of whooping cough, scarlet fever or polio.

Interesting slides, shown by Dr. Weisblat, showed that death causes in 1971 were due to cardiovascular diseases, cancer, accidents, influenza and pneumonia, premature infancy, diabetes, and cirrhosis of the liver. According to the chart, the days-in-bed disability in 1971 were: first, influenza and pneumonia; second, colds and third, cardiovascular diseases. Dr. Weisblat said both science and the government were attempting to discover a combative therapy for these three disabilities.

He noted the present day concern and studies on the effects of saturated fats and cholesterol in the diet, as well as the importance of exercise.

The speaker is interested in the Cancer Chemotherapy National Service Center and reported that studies in immunology may find an answer in drugs. Also actively interested in the study of prostaglandins which was begun by a Swedish scientist in 1957, Dr. Weisblat said the Upjohn Co. has become extensively involved in this study. The results are now proving the necessity in therapeutic research for large sums to be invested before there is any guarantee the investigations will yield a product that can be useful and be sold.

"The major theme," he said in closing, "is preventive medicine." He hoped we could stop arteries from hardening with proper diet and medication, prevent strokes by regulating blood pressure and prevent virus diseases with proper immunization.

Americans still take better care of their cars than their bodies, he said, tragically postponing medical checkup until the same day we schedule the car tune-up.

Mrs. erome Counihan presided, introduced the speaker and conducted the election of officers for the next season.

Elected were Dr. William Arendshorst, president; Mrs. Robert Bolte, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth DePree, secretary and Harold Karsten, treasurer.

Seymour Padnos gave the invocation. A roster of all members of Century Club since 1897, prepared by Mrs. William Winter and Harold Karsten, was presented to each member as a commemorative of the 75 years of the club's existence.

Guests at the dinner meeting were Mrs. Weisblat, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Timmer, and Mrs. Egbert Boer.

Mrs. Counihan thanked the officers and committees for cooperation during her term of office and presented the gavel to Dr. Arendshorst who adjourned the meeting.

YOUNG 'SEAMAN' — For the first time a Junior Boatman course was given to 4 to 9-year-olds by the Holland Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary with 17 enthusiastic young boaters enrolled. While their parents were taking the adult course in safe boating, the children learned the basics of knot tying, dock safety and how to wear a life jacket. Shown here is one of the children, 5-year-old Kristie Speet, with one of the instructors, Mrs. Harvey Browe, who with her husband conducted the classes. Safe Boating ...

While their parents were completing the final lesson of the "Safe Boating and Seamanship" course last Tuesday at Holland High School, 17 4 to 9-year-old children of local boating enthusiasts were being taught the basics of safe boating at their own level.

In a pilot program, the Holland Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary sponsored a "Junior Boatman" lesson, specifically for the children of boaters enrolled in the 12-lesson adult course on safe boating. While the adult course is an annual public education function of the Auxiliary, this is the first time a junior program has been offered.

The theme of the lesson was "The Most Important Thing Afloat Is You." The program consisted of teaching dock safety, the proper way to wear a life jacket, and basic knot tying.

Interest was maintained with the use of Coast Guard colored cartoon slides, model boats (which the children made and kept,) and references to "Charlie Crash," the child who does everything wrong.

The class was conducted by Beth and Harvey Browe of the Auxiliary's Holland Flotilla.

Because of the uniqueness of the program, several officers of the Auxiliary Division were on hand, including Willard Haradine, Division Captain, and Dick Cheverton, Division Public Relations Officer, and Glen Averill, Division Public Education Officer.

The acceptance of the program has led the Flotilla to plan to expand it to a multi-lesson course next year, and to include actual water - side demonstrations. It is hoped that the program would be offered as an annual project of the Auxiliary on a national basis.

Heisey Glass Paper Given By Mrs. T. Kooiker

The Jane Steketee Chapter of Quarters heard an interesting report on Heisey glass at their meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ted Kooiker. Miss Goldie Kleinheksel served as hostess.

Mrs. Howard Veeniglaasen, vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. James Kiekintveld.

Mrs. Kooiker who gave the paper on Heisey glass exhibited many of the pieces she has in her collection. Published information on Heisey glass is scarce. The main source seems to be original research by Clarence W. Vogel. Mr. Vogel talked to Augustus H. Heisey, grandson of the founder and E. E. Olson, a chemist employed by Heisey.

In 1896 Heisey started making glassware and continued until 1937 when it closed its doors. The first few years Heisey produced rather poor quality glass, but after the turn of the century he developed a glass mix formula that was equal to or superior to any glass ever produced.

Heisey's trademark is a capital H within a diamond. During the last 25 years of its existence, Heisey produced some molds that were not cut with this signature. Occasionally some big buyers wanted glass without the hallmark, not wanting their customers to know the source of the glass.

Blown glass was first produced by Heisey about 1914. Many colors of glassware were made by them such as Emerald, Amber, Opal or milk, Vaseline, Flamingo, Moonbeam, Hawthorne (amethyst), Sahara (yellow gold), Tangerine, Steigle Blue (cobalt), Limelight (turquoise) and Dawn (charcoal).

There are many different patterns of Heisey glass, but more than 50 per cent of its lifetime production consisted of Colonial style glassware. Collectors of Heisey enjoy it because of its high quality and crystal clear transparency.

The next meeting of the chapter will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Rich and will feature a talk by Ed Prins on "Genealogy."

Three New Coaches For Holland Spring Sports

Holland is the only school in the area that has new coaches in all spring sports.

Dave Lightfoot is head of the baseball team, Walt Kooyers of the track squad and Gene Brown of the tennis team.

Lightfoot has seven lettermen back from last year's disappointing 5-15 year. They include star first baseman Randy Simmons, hard hitting outfielder Jack Strabbing, third sacker Jesse Ruiz, outfielder Scott aVn Kampen, catcher Joel Maatman, pitcher - infielder Mike McReynolds and outfielder Rick Voy.

Other players on the team include infielders, Curt Bobel-dyk, Milan Coburn, Rod Dan-nenberg, Pete Matchinsky and Jeff Schripsema. Outfielders are Joe De Vette, Dave Dykema, Ross Lamb, Eric Menken, Pat Skiles and Ron Israels.

Expected to pitch for Light-foot's nine are Joe Serrano, McReynolds, DeVette, Dan Fra-ber and Israels. Carl Kramer is the second string catcher.

"I definitely feel that we will be a good hitting club but I'm concerned with our defense," stated Lightfoot. "I have been pleased with the attitudes of our kids and at this stage, I'm very optimistic."

"Our offensive attack will be built around Simmons and Strabbing," continued Light-foot. "Both of them hit close to .300 last year."

The Dutch will open their season at home on April 9.

Coach Brown knows he can't replace Vic Amaya over night but he's doing his best in preparing the Dutch netters for another tough scheduled this spring.

Sophomore Jeff Etterbeek is by far our top layer," insisted Brown. "After that, it is pretty balanced."

The Dutch, who shared the state championship last year with Amaya leading the way, are a young team, as they have only three seniors on their squad.

"We have seven sophomores and six juniors," replied Brown. "If they come around like we're hoping, we could have another fine season in tennis."

The four returning veterans from last year's state champions are Dick Wood, John Veenhoven, Jim VanderWege and Skip Williams.

The rest of the squad consists of Ken Freestone, Mike Abers, Jerry Strabbing, Tim Van Slooten, Marty Novak, Tom Japinga, Rod Urens, Dan Ehm-mann, Dan McAlister, John Knoll and Mark Fortney.

Holland will host Northview on April 9 in its season opener.

Kooyers is the first to admit that his underclassmen will have to come through for him to be successful.

"We're hurting for bodies," stated Kooyers. "We got some good first place performers but no depth with only 22 players on the squad. This would kill us in some close meets."

There are only nine fellows back from last year's squad and only five of them lettered.

The veterans were seniors Tim Slenk in the hurdles, Gary Lawson in the two - mile, Kirby Howard in the pole vault and long jump, Randy Brown, in the dashes and Cal Brown, in the mile.

Others that competed on the varsity last year were sprinter and long jumper Lance Coney, 440 and hurdler Mark Dirks, sprinter Jeff Harrington and distance runner Dave Broene.

The rest of the team consists of Dave Boundy, Bill De Witt, Andy Emmert, Fred Geary, Rudy Gonzales, Len Hemwall, Jim Knoll, Dave Molner, Nelson Muniz, Mark Marfia, Jack Payne, Chuck Mudders, Jack Holt and Paul Shashagauy.

"To win, we have to be consistent in all our meets," added Kooyers. "I'm not going to make any kind of prediction, it's going to take a full team effort."

"Even though we don't have many upper classmen, I'm happy to see so many sophomores because this is what we will be depending on in the future," Kooyers concluded.

The first dual meet for Kooyers's Dutch will be on April 9 at home against rival West Ottawa.

Tops Queen Crowned At Annual Honors Night

Approximately 600 TOPS members and guests were present Monday evening at Holland Christian High School auditorium for their annual honors night and the crowning of the new area queen.

Mrs. Eleanor Brunzell, area captain, was mistress of ceremonies for the event. She introduced Mrs. Polly Kozal of Muskegon, area supervisor, and Pat Hern, Mrs. Kozal's area captain. Mrs. Jackie Burd of Muskegon, chairman of the Muskegon Area Rally, was also present. Area officers recognized were Marilyn Israels, secretary; Sylvia Craycraft, treasurer, and June Sundin, reporter.

The stage was decorated with smiling faces and many vases of red roses. A rose covered arch, the queen's throne and a flower trimmed candelabra were also featured. The theme for the evening was "Smile - From TOPS to KOPS." Pat Green served as stage chairman.

The first honored were the KOPS Long Standing. There were 72 women recognized in this category, ranging from three months to six years and six months. Virginia Penny of 484 Richland, with a weight loss of 19 pounds, was presented with a bouquet of carnations and also a National TOPS Award for more than five years a KOPS.

Forty - seven graduates were introduced by Marilyn Israels, 723 leader, with diploma presented by Mrs. Kozal. They formed a large circle around the auditorium making a "circle of light." With the house lights out, Marty Hardenberg, guest soloist, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," accompanied by June Sundin, organist. KOPS in Waiting were recognized from the floor.

Women who have lost large amounts of weight were given the opportunity to show their "out - sized" dresses they wore before their weight losses in the big dress parade. Each entered the stage covered by her past dress and revealed a smaller sized fashion.

Mrs. Brunzell then introduced the chapter queens, leaders and best losers. As the queens entered the arch, a before picture was flashed on a screen so the audience could see the changes in their figures.

Mrs. June Teusink, 1971-72 queen, was presented the Century Medallion award by Mrs. Kozal. To qualify, one must have lost 100 pounds and have kept it off for one year. She gave a speech on what TOPS means to her.

As retiring queen, Mrs. Teusink presented the honors to the division winners as follows:

Division I — Henrietta Meekhof, 419 Jensen, first; Edna Mac Donald, 315 Coopersville, second. Division II — Mildred Wiersema, 903 Holland, first; Virginia Ratliff, 624 Kalamazoo, second; Rebecca Carpenter, 610 Plainwell, alternate. One-Way Street Recall Sought In Petition Drive

Initiatory petitions asking City Council to abolish one - way streets in Holland or submit the issue to the voters were filed with City Clerk D.W. Schipper in City Hall Friday afternoon.

Such petitions require 15 per cent of the total vote cast in the city for governor in the last election — in this case, November, 1970.

The drive was spearheaded by Mrs. William Weststrate Jr. who indicated the petitions contain 1,628 signatures. The validity of the signatures now must be checked by the city clerk.

City Council passed the one-way street resolution in July, 1971, and the system became effective the following October.

Falcons Pull Off Biggest Shocker

ANN ARBOR — Thud! That's the noise Hudsonville Unity Christian's basketball team made Saturday at the Arena by falling off its lofty perch.

A small but determined Dearborn Divine Child was the villain as the Falcons pulled off the biggest upset of the state tournaments by topping the previously undefeated Crusaders, 58-54.

Unity had entered the title showdown with the best record registered by any size school in the state, 27-0 and rated the best Class B team in the state.

On the other hand, Divine had lost five of its first 12 games but when it counted, the Falcons reeled off eight tourney wins to capture the state crown.

Coach Bill McCartney of Divine was probably the biggest reason the Falcons shocked the Crusaders.

McCartney's plan was to let Hudsonville's giant all-stater Mark Veenstra do his scoring but to shut off everyone else, especially the forwards.

Veenstra did his thing, as he pumped in 34 markers from under the hoop but the rest of the Crusaders team could get but 20 points with standout forwards Barry Capel and Mike Kamps getting only 10 total. The two had averaged around 17 points apiece all season and throughout the tourney.

"We were willing to concede Veenstra his points," said McCartney. "We knew we weren't big enough to stop him so we set up to make everyone else work for their shots."

Another important factor was the Falcons weren't used to playing against anyone that tall, so McCartney asked his good buddy, Coach Fred Thomann, an ex-Michigan State giant to practice against his team all week.

The 29-year-old 6'9" Plymouth coach did what McCartney asked and according to the Falcon coach, "it really helped us."

McCartney didn't make Unity fans any happier, as he called for a stall that drove the Crusaders nuts.

"Wimpy," one of the more than 13,000 screaming fans commented, "You can only go to the well so often before it will go dry." He was referring to the fact that Hudsonville has all season gone to Veenstra when the chips were down to pull out a victory. But that didn't happen against the scrappy Falcons. The other guys had to come through for the Falcons to win but Divine was more than the ordinarily "Divine" school, as its defense didn't allow Jim De Groot, Kamps, Capel or Tom Vander Lugt a good shot.

Unity hit on its first three shots from the field, to lead 6-4 and increased the margin to 10-6 before being outscored 8-0 to trail, 14-10.

Veenstra's bucket did give Unity a 16-14 bulge at the close of the first period.

Unity went dead cold in the second period, as they only tallied eight points compared to Divine's 13, to trail at the intermission, 27-24.

Most everyone, at least that from Hudsonville, thought its team would come alive in the third quarter, like they have done so many times all season. But it wasn't the case, as the smaller Falcons, who's tallest player was 6'3" center Dick Wenson led by a 43-36 difference at the sound of the period horn.

With the Crusaders fighting for their lives, they did manage to cut the final deficit to 58-54 on last second baskets by Veenstra and Capel.

The Falcons actually won the game from the free throw lane, as they sank 14 charity tosses to only two for Unity. In fact, Divine Child had only six fouls called on them during the entire game with two of them coming in the second half. Unity was charged with 18 fouls.

Divine played a brilliant floor contest too, as they only made six turnovers, two in the first half compared to 17 for Unity.

For Hudsonville's veteran Coach Andy Ten Harmel, the defeat was extra hard to swallow, as it was the second time in his 18 years at Unity, that his club has lost in the championship game.

In 1953, the Crusaders were defeated by powerful River Rouge and nobody, at least nobody on this side of the state, thought the Falcons could pull out a win.

"They looked so much like we did in 1953," said both Holland Christian followers Ron Weener and Roger Cole after the game. Both were chatting back and forth about Christian's stunning loss to Willow Run.

Dean Faletti paced Divine with 16 points while Ken Sadek and Ed Kasperek had 12 each. Veenstra was the lone Unity cager in double figures.

Early Birds Hear Hallacy On Growth

With the aid of graphs, First Ward Councilman Louis Hallacy II brought Chamber of Commerce Early Birds up to date on where Holland stands in relation to past, present and future, at breakfast today in Hotel Warm Friend.

Although Holland Hospital is not supported by tax dollars, Hallacy included that institution in his summary of services the city faces and he pointed to working together with townships and counties to reduce costs of future improvements, many of which are badly needed right now.

Dividing needs into 10-year increments, Hallacy's comparisons jumped from a small city in 1940 to an enlarged city in 1958 (impact started mainly in 1960) and where Holland stands in 1973.

According to today's zoning map, city acreage is 13.4 per cent industrial, 7 per cent commercial, 27.6 agricultural and the remainder residential covering single residences and apartments. City acreage totals 8,570 or 13.4 square miles.

He spoke of the Holland-Zeeland area population projects listing 64,890 in 1973 and over 100,000 30 years hence. Residential housing units in Holland today list 8,634, compared with 4,000 in 1940.

Library services have had perhaps the most dramatic growth, listing 126,214 volumes today compared with 16,330 in 1940.

In 1940, Holland had 40 miles of street compared with 121 today, 66 miles of which are fully improved and 55 miles lacking full improvements.

Listing expansion projections for utilities, Hallacy listed needs in electric, water and sewer services and particularly in storm sewer development. The city now requires new commercial and industrial developments to have their own holding ponds because present facilities are woefully inadequate. He spoke of huge sums expended to meet environmental requirements involving millions of dollars, improvements that have not expanded the services.

Thrust of his presentation pointed to growing cooperation with townships and counties and awareness of local residents of the needs.

William Strating presided.
